

When I was a boy – during Good Friday/Holy Thursday I'd imagine what was going on Right now – at this point in the day, what was happening?

- Well last night Jesus was arrested, taken from us
- So today, all over the world, the tabernacles are empty – Jesus has been taken
- Last night He was dragged off to jail, presented to Pilot, then off to Herod
 - He was ridiculed, slapped, spit upon – and then returned to Pilot
 - Pilot says 'I find no fault in Him – so I'll have Him flogged??'
 - They whip Him, crown Him with thorns, more beatings – FOR MY SIN
 - Today He's brought before Pilot again – Pilot confesses “I find no fault in Him”
 - People reply 'Crucify Him, give us Barabua' - Crucify Him
 - and Pilot washes his hands.
- So today, around 9 in my imagination, He takes up His cross
 - And now He's walking towards Golgatha – where is He now, right now?
 - Has Simon the Cyreanian been forced to help yet?
 - Has Jesus fallen yet?
 - Has He met His mother yet? Imagine Mary in the midst of all this!

If Pilot found no guilt in Him – WHY?

For love of ME, and you, He takes the punishment for our sins.

AMAZING – breathtaking.

“So shall He startle many nations, because of Him kings shall stand speechless”

Today we are all dumbfounded by the magnitude of His love – even kings
